Objective

- Workplace
- To become an invaluable and loyal employee that contributes and learns.
 - To broaden my horizons and gain experience working in the industry.
- Personal
- To enjoy a career doing the things I love.

Skills

- Work
- I am very organized, and display a distinct creative flair in whatever it is I do.
- Team
- I enjoy the team dynamic from working with others, but am very competent on my own as well.
- Communication
- I have great written, and interpersonal skills.

Technical skills

- Languages
- I am well-versed in the paradigms of object oriented, and functional programming languages. I have worked extensively with relational databases, C, Java and Python, and prefer the latter language for my personal projects. I am also familiar with scripting, such as bash shell scripting.
- Web technologies
- I am experienced with XHTML, Javascript, CSS, PHP, and AJAX.
- Recent interests
- Haskell, jQuery, algorithm design.

Professional experience

Related work experience

- Sep 2009 – Dec 2009
- Teaching Assistant for the Introduction to Computer Programming course at university. I gave lecture-styled presentations at the beginning of every lab in addition to running them. Other duties included marking tests, and helping students.
- Sep 2008 – March 2009
- Jr. Systems Administrator for the Math and Computational Sciences department at the University of Toronto. I was involved in maintaining the labs and various software. I also implemented a system that displayed a user's disk quota visually on their desktop.

Leadership related experience

- Jul 2009 – Sep 2009
- Events Coordinator for CFRE Radio. I organized a concert for University of Toronto's orientation event for new students. My job included organizing people and large teams, planning the event, and negotiating prices with contractors.

Volunteer work

Sep 2007 – present

– I am a DJ at Mississaugas local community radio station CFRE Radio. I have a show every week, and every week I hope that there are people who listen.

Aug 2009 – present

– I am on the board of directors for CFRE Radio and I am also aiding their current webmaster with the development of scripts and tools to manage DJs and their shows.

Personal projects

2009 – present

I have built a web scraper that downloads and tags wallpapers.

2009 – present

I have begun work on implementing a visual novel/2D game engine in Python.

2008 – present

I am writing a fantasy novel which I hope to publish some day.
